“ I am deeply sadden and shocked about Aunt Mary’s passing. She always made me laugh in lively conversations. She had her way of showing her love, laughter and being full of life. We had great discussions about her faith and family. She loved her family very much! She is in the presence of Christ, her mother (Mom), dad, Uncle Carmen and all her love ones who have gone before. One day there will be a reunion like no other and we will meet again. She will be dearly missed. My heart & prayers goes out to you Uncle Jim, Vicki, Steve and Lisa.
May His peace rest upon each of you,
Rob

“ Gamy,

I love you more than anyone will ever know. I know now where I inherited my resilience and tenacity in all things. I'm grateful for you being a mother to my mother, a grandmother to me and a great-grandmother to Finn for the short time he has been on this earth. There could never have been enough time in the world to enjoy your company and presence. To walk inside and see you smile, hear your voice and give me probably the strongest hug from anyone I've ever known was one of the best feelings in the world; Something that I will love and cherish forever. Your prayers as well as compassion, strength and love passed down to my mother and myself have allowed me to be the father, son and overall person I am today - I whole heartedly believe. I will always love you and will miss you more and more each passing day. Thank you for your prayers, your guidance, your example, all of which I see in my own mother to no suprise. Thank you for my mother and most importantly, thank you for being you, my grandmother. I know you will check in on Finn from time to time and he will look to the sky and know you are with him. I love you.

“ Mom, you were the rock upon which this family was built. Your quiet strength has never been more apparent than now. And I desperately miss hearing your voice already but I'll always have your Ellis Island poem and the wonderful memory of that day. Thank you for giving us another year and a half to see your smile and share your infectious laugh. I know you are up in heaven right now laughing, telling stories, and eating Italian sausages and cannolis with your family, and being the life of the party. I miss you and I love you!!! Your daughter, Lucy “ Lisa, I didn't get to meet your Mom, and yet I feel that I did. You have that same quiet strength. I've felt it in many of our talks. You share your laugh and smile so easily with others. I hope you can now feel us sharing our strength with you. Our thoughts and prayers are with you and your family always.

In God's Peace and Love,

“ Jim,

All of us that knew Mary were equally shocked by her passing. My first memories of Mary were at a meal at the house on Weber a long time ago. Mary had the ability to laugh a lot and to give one that look when kidding went to far. My thoughts and prayers go out to you , Jim and your family.

“ How do you say goodbye to a beloved sister? Can you imagine a world without her?
She was kind and sweet and generous. And I loved her very much.
